600 Campaigners Will Attend Banquet

$750,000 Cheque
To Be Presented
University

Some 600 War Memorial guests will attend a banquet to be held in the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gym on Monday when Air Vice Marshal Frank McGill, chairman of the War Memorial Campaign will present the university with a cheque for $750,000—the result of the three year drive.

Chancellor Orville S. Tyndale, K.C., will accept the cheque on behalf of the university and express the university's appreciation.

JAMES TO ATTEND

Dr. Cyril F. James will also be in attendance and will thank the graduates for their unstinting efforts in raising three quarters of a million dollars.

Mr. Eric A. Leslie, chairman of the Executive Committee of the War Memorial Campaign, will thank the workers across the Dominion and in other countries. Over 1,500 workers took an active part in the drive for a McGill memorial.

Dr. C. J. Tidmarsh, president of the Graduates' Society will be in the chair and will introduce the speakers.

TO COST $1,250,000

The proposed Rink-Auditorium and Swimming Pool is expected to cost approximately a million and a quarter dollars, and the university is contributing the additional half million dollars to make up the total amount.

Graduates from all over the continent are coming to the banquet and an estimated 600 people will be in attendance. The event will commence at 6.30 with cocktails in the COTC Officers' Mess.

Bishop's, Laval Plan Bilingual Debate

"e Carabin", weekly French-language newspaper of Laval University, reported the completion of arrangements for a bilingual, inter-university debate between Laval and Bishop's College, Lennoxville, on Thursday, Jan. 22.

At Laval, a team from Bishop's will defend the resolution "Strikes Help the Workmen," while at Bishop's College a Laval representative will debate the question "Peace-time Military Service — Yes or No?"

This is the initial venture in the bilingual debating field between the two institutions. N. Grimard, President of Laval's debaters, stated that "they have been organized to promote goodwill and friendship between the students of the two languages. We are sure of achieving this aim."

Charges Prompt Debate On LPP in UBC Legion

By Canadian University Press

Activities of LPP members in the UBC Canadian Legion are under controversial discussion, as a result of a charge made, on Monday, by a former UBC Legion President, Grant Livingstone. Mr. Livingstone had claimed that "an insidious Communist minority is attempting to gain control of the Legion." He was speaking in answer to an article by Roland Penner, of the University of Manitoba, in which that LPP student leader had accused Mr. Livingstone of opposing a cost of living bonus for student veterans.

Supporting Mr. Livingstone's statement was Perry Miller, President of the Canadian Legion, who alleged that during the three year's existence of the UBC Legion, the Communists have made continuous attempts at gaining control. However, Mr. Miller went on to say that the Communist element need never be a threat to the Legion, so long as the other members do not allow themselves to be influenced by their school of thought.

Hillel Director Visits Winnipeg

(By Canadian University Press)

Rabbi Arthur J. Lelyveld, National Director of the B'nai Brith Foundations, numbering 177 Foundations at American and Canadian Universities, was in Winnipeg recently, as guest of the B'nai Brith Hillel Foundation at the University of Manitoba. He addressed a community meeting at the Royal Alexandra Hotel.

Rabbi Lelyveld, a native of New York City, is National Vice-Chairman of the Committee on Unity for Palestine of the Zionist Organization of America. He holds many other important positions, including being secretary of the Rabbinical Committee on Conscientious Objectors, and he is active in the Commission on Justice and Peace of the Central Conference of American Rabbis.

Co-eds Plan Buffet Supper, 2 Conferences

Vocational guidance conferences, a buffet supper, and a monthly bulletin are among the women's Union's proposed activities for the first term of 1948, the Executive announced after a meeting last night. They gave details of the future meetings and of their office hours.

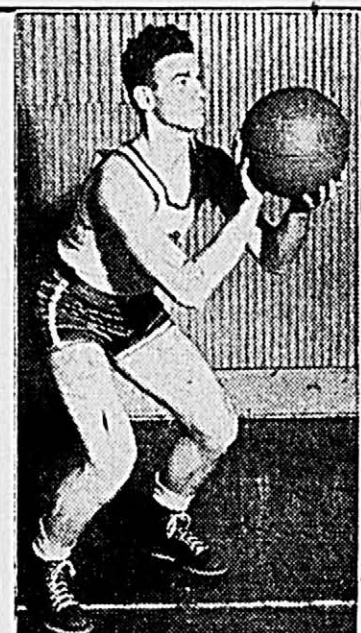

The conferences are scheduled for February 17 and 24. They will be run on the same lines as the Arts and Science Gen Nites, but they will be devoted to women's interests, and speakers will furnish a great deal of information on vocational opportunities. One session will be devoted to openings for women in industry, and the other to professional careers for women. The McGill Placement Bureau is in co-operation with the Women's Union in this venture, and students who desire it, will be able to obtain names and addresses for further details.

A buffet supper will be served in the R.V.C. cafeteria on Sunday evening, February first. Co-eds are encouraged to invite guests of either sex. These informal evenings are intended to give students living away from home a chance to entertain their friends.

The Women's Union plans to publish a monthly bulletin, to make its activities better known. The first issue, it is planned, will appear in February.

The monthly Round Table meeting will be held on Thursday, January 22, at 1 p.m. in the Women's Union office. All clubs and societies receiving grants from the Union are asked to send a representative, with an informal report on the group's activities.

The office is open Monday through Friday from 1.30 to 3 p.m. and Dorothy Stalker, the secretary-treasurer is in the office every Thursday from 2.30 to 4.

Heading the Clarkson basketball delegation into the Gym tonight will be cage veterans RUDY CRAGNOLIN (left) and BOB WAGNER. Bob has a reputation as a sharp-shooting guard, while Cragnolin handles a forward post. Both boys will be out to bring back a victory to Potsdam.

Reporter Finds News Ed. Devoid of Imagination

By SANCHE

Probably the favorite topic of novice newspapermen is that of assignments. And speaking of assignments, there is one which I suppose I shall never be offered, despite my willingness, anxiety and personal initiative.

To make a long story interesting, I shall come to the point. I should like to cover the Red and White Revue Chorus rehearsals! But let me explain myself. I don't mean that I want to actually "cover" the Revue Chorus; such action would make me a very unpopular man indeed; and besides, the Chorus looks absolutely charming without the "New Look". But "legs" get on with the story.

I have been trying, for some time now, to impress the news editor with the "human interest" possibilities of these rehearsals, but the news editor is a misguided and married man, who maintains that my "interest" is not so much "human" as it is "animal". In all fairness to him, however, must admit he did not actually accuse me of being a wolf.

This attitude, needless to say, has left me disillusioned and hurt. My character, through my short life, has never been subject to question. I approach all my activities with an objectivity which is both amazing and disgusting.

Consequently, any suggestion that I possess ulterior motives toward the Red and White Revue Chorus line strikes a solemn chord in my sensitive soul.

I realize that there is little point in pursuing the argument. If the assignment is refused, The Daily obviously does not see the advantages in making "copy" out of "chorus." And in accord with my self-confessed objectivity, the matter should end here.

But there is another aspect of the problem. Being conscientious — as well as the other three qualities which appear in the first paragraph I refuse to let The Daily make a fool of itself by omitting such an important section of the anatomy of campus life.

For this reason, I continue to harangue our inhibited news editor, and I continue to sustain the personal injury of refusal after refusal. The only reason I persist, as mentioned before, is that I have the interests of the newspaper foremost in my mind.

And to prove that I have this interest, I must admit that despite lack of official permission to "cover" the Red and White Revue Chorus rehearsals, I attend them all on my personal initiative, with the hope — mark you — that the news editor will eventually ask for a story.

Dawson Mock Trial To Judge UN Action

Dawson debaters will place the United Nations on trial for "its decision in favor of the partition of Palestine" this Monday, Jan. 19, in a novel form of debating fashioned after the well-known radio program, "Famous Issues on Trial."

The debate, which is scheduled for 7.30 p.m. in Room 12, Dawson Hall, will adopt court procedure in considering the issue in question. A prosecuting attorney will present a case against the U.N., to be refuted by a defence attorney.

Each attorney may call on two witnesses, who will present the opinions of men of distinction in international affairs. The trial will be presided over by a judge, and a jury will be chosen from the audience. The program is being sponsored by the Dawson Debating Society.

Pulp and Paper Institute To Sponsor Lecture Series

A series of nine illustrated lectures designed to outline the scope of the technical work of the pulp and paper industry of Canada has been scheduled by the Pulp and Paper Research Institute of Canada, at McGill University, it was announced today by Dr. Otto Maass, C.B.E., Ph.D., F.R.S., general director of the Institute.

Specially intended for engineering students, the illustrated talks will be given in the lecture theatre of the Chemistry Building, at five o'clock, every Tuesday, beginning January 20. The first speaker in the series will be Frank L. Mitchell, O.B.E., B.Sc., M.E.I.C., manager of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, whose lecture, "The importance of the pulp and paper industry to Canadians," will deal with the place which pulp and paper occupies in the national economy.

Other lectures in the series will be delivered by Prof. H. O. Keay,

Icemen Set for Gaels Tonight; Clarkson Cage Contest at Gym

Hoopsters Face Top US Team

Clarkson Squad Is Unbeaten in Six Games Played

Coach Howie Ryan will lead his erratic McGill cagers into battle tonight at the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gym at 8.00 p.m. when the Red and White clad collegians tackle a sharp-shooting quintet from Clarkson College. The visitors, who have been undefeated in six tilts thus far this season, boast a power-packed lineup which is sure to give the Redmen's flimsy defence loads of trouble.

The Potsdam squad boasts such luminaries as Rudy Cragnolin and Bob Wagner, who are all too familiar to local cage fans. These two lads have demonstrated time and again that their basketball black magic is no flash in the pan. Cragnolin cavorts in the forward slot, while Wagner whoops it up in the guard position. Another hoop Houdini who needs no introduction to McGill enthusiasts is 6' 7" centre Bill Peck, who has amassed a total of 83 points for the Green and Gold in a half a dozen contests. Bud Lesko, Jim Horton and Albert Sellers are others among coach Hank Hodges' leading lights.

REDMEN SLUMP

Meantime our Redmen are in the throes of a distressing slump, which has seen them drop six consecutive matches. The recent holiday layoff has accentuated Ryan's Redbirds' previous lack of cohesion and teamwork. Sloppy ball-handling and

A & S Undergrads Plan Barn Dance

Social and educational plans for the A and S Undergraduate Society of Dawson College have been drawn up. These plans include an Arts and Science stag to be held in the month of February, a Science "Gen" night and an Arts and Science informal Barn dance. In order to start this program, a meeting will be held in room 16, Dawson Hall, 7.00 p.m. Thursday January 15. The agenda will include the following: 1. Election of officers: (a) Secretary (b) Treasurer, (c) Publicity Director and Committee, (d) Social Director and Committee, (e) Educational Director and Committee. 2. Plans for coming stag.

Since the constitution states that there must be a minimum of fifty members present to carry on business the executive has asked for the support of all its members.

Pictured above is "GOOSE" GOSSELIN, star defenceman for the locals who will provide a stumbling block to Queen's forwards in the game at the Forum tonight. Gordie has been playing the best hockey of his intercollegiate career this season, and has been a bulwark of defensive strength so far.

Red and White Will Hold Dance

The Red and White Society are holding a combined Basketball-Hockey Dance in Currie Gym tonight following the Queens-McGill hockey game and the Clarkson-McGill basketball game. The dance, with the Westernaires Orchestra providing the music, will follow immediately after the basketball clash, scheduled to start at 8.15, and will continue until 1.30 a.m.

Students with athletics books will be admitted to the basketball game and dance for 75 cents, while general admission price will be $1.00.

Hockey fans attending the McGill-Queens tilt will be taken to Currie Gym by special buses that will leave from the rear of the Forum immediately after the senior game. Dance admission for hockey fans is 75 cents.

Dawson Night Planned For Campus Revue

Dawson College will see the Red and White Revue on 'home ground' Friday, Feb. 13, at a special performance, it was announced last night by the executive of the Revue. Ticket sales will open Monday, Jan. 26.

Special representatives for ticket sales will be appointed at Dawson, and names will appear in The Daily upon announcement.

A special preview performance will be given at Dawson sometime during the week before the show opens in Montreal. The Revue performances in Moyses Hall will be run from Monday, Feb. 9 to Saturday, Feb. 15.

Malcolm Smith, musical director, has called an orchestra rehearsal for tonight, Friday, Jan. 16. It will get under way at 7.30 p.m. in the Ballroom. He has asked that the following be on hand: J. Carson, H. Mikelbent, W. Madger, G. Milne, P. Savage, A. Leacock, D. Scott, J. Malone, N. Pair, D. Le Baron, and D. Klaihn.

Since there is still a need for additional wind-instruments, will all those interested be on hand today for an audition. Promptness is requested.

Players' Club Cast Student Play Today

The McGill Players' Club will present another major production on Friday and Saturday, February 26 and 27. This play, as yet untitled, was written by Stanley Mann, second year English honours student, and will be under the direction of Leo Ciceri, fourth year English honours student.

Preliminary casting meetings will be held in the Players' Clubroom today at 12.30 and 5.00. There are twelve roles to be filled.

This production marks the Players' Club's initial venture in staging a full length play written by a student.

Tricolor Squad in 1st Appearance at Forum This Season

Campbell Crew Gunning for Easy Victory on Home Ice

Still smarting from the 10-1 pasting they suffered at the hands of the Varsity Blues last week, the third place Golden Gaels from Kingston invaded the Forum tonight. The game, slated to begin at 8.15, is the first of two appearances the Queen's Senior Intercollegiate brigade makes here. The next home showing of the Redmen is scheduled for two weeks from tonight, when they again face the Tricolor.

REVENGE?

McGill Annual Budget Gets SEC Approval

Final approval of the budget for the McGill Annual was granted Wednesday night at the weekly meeting of the Students' Executive Council, following prolonged discussion as to ways and means of eliminating excessive deficits in sales of "Old McGill".

Placed before members by Managing Editor John Oulton, the budget was passed as presented, and a suggestion to increase the price to $5.00 was adopted unanimously. This increase promises to reduce the deficit which might be incurred by the S.E.C.

Unsold and unclaimed books found in the Book Exchange providing they are no longer useful or saleable, will be sent to the International Student Service and to a university in the Philippines which has requested assistance, it was decided.

A report of the recent conference of the National Federation of Canadian University Students, held in Winnipeg, was tabled pending receipt of detailed minutes from the N.F.C.U.S.

Next meeting of the S.E.C. will be held Wednesday, January 21, in the Board Room of the Union.

INTERFACULTY HOCKEY

The results of last night's games were as follows:

Engineering 8, Commerce 4.
Science 4, Arts 0.
Today's game between Phys.-Ed. and aw is cancelled, and the one between Med and Dents will start at 5.00 p.m.

Donner Bldg. Grants Range From $1 up to $66,355

Following a meeting of the Board of Governors under the chairmanship of Chancellor Tyndale last Wednesday, gifts, grants and bequests were acknowledged by McGill totalling above $130,000. The respective amounts of the donations covered the whole scale between individual gifts of one dollar to one item of $66,355.

The Donner Building, the cornerstone of which was laid last fall by His Excellency Viscount Alexander, is to be erected on a site adjoining the present Medical Building. Medical research in the building will include cancer research, among other important projects in the field of improved medicine.

The partial list of larger gifts, grants and bequests, as announced following the meeting of Governors, is as follows:

A. F. Feldman—Donation to provide a scholarship for a deserving student in the Faculty of Medicine $1,000; Kiwanis Club of Montreal—Donation to provide bursaries for three students in agriculture $150; Household Scholarship $200; Leonard Foundation—Scholarship for student in Medicine and Social Work $400; Shell Oil Company of Canada Ltd.—Fellowship for a graduate student in Chemistry $1,000; Mrs. Hobart A. Springle—Additional donation for the endowment of the Coach Dave Campbell's boys have met the Red, Gold and Blue once before this season. The game, at the Jock Hartley Arena, initiated the twelve-game league schedule for the Senior pucksters. The McGill six skated off the ice 5-3 victors, thanks to the scoring of Cy Biegler who sank two markers.

There have been two changes in the McGill lineup over the holidays during which the Redmen played a successful series with the Lake Placid Roamers, winning two out of three tilts, beating La Touque up in the wilds of "Keybeck," and taking the Harvard aggregation at the Forum. Murray Hayes has retired from hockey for the season. The rugged, rushing Western Canada defence stalwart, Charlie Sanderson, has been forced to hang up his skates for the season due to studies (sigh!) To fill the gap, Jack Hennessey has been called up to the first stringers from the intermediates. He will team up with Gordie "Goose" Gosselin, playing his best hockey this year, to form the starting defence team in front of Jack Gelineau. Big Doug Heron, who is still trying to sink his first goal is paired with burly Mike Fischer, forming the other defensive duo.

UP FRONT

Trying to get the first face-off of the tilt is centre Tom Hale who is beginning to show the "finesse" of last season when he played with brother George, now a dentist. Play-maker Tommy will try to relay that puck to either Reg Sinclair or Ward Pitfield, wings on the first line. Pivot man on the second line is Jack "Pop" Miller, between Captain Cy Beigler and Dave "Yank" Hackett. Warren Chippendale and Jimmy Atkinson flank Phil Henry on the third trio.

Hobart Anderson Springle Memorial Fund $250; Westmount School Commissioners — For two scholarships $300; Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Stewart—Donation to Macdonald College for Founders Day Fund $1,500; Director of Athletics Fund $1,000; Athletics Equipment Fund $500; Practice House Fund $1,000; Donations for a Special Scholarship in Science from W. B. Boggs $100; J. A. Carter $25; G. G. McLachlan $100; L. Theisan $50.

British Myers Company — First quarterly instalment of grant for research in the field of Hypertension under direction of Dr. Kenneth Evelyn, $25,000; Mount Royal Lodge B'nai Brith—Annual donation to provide bursaries for three students in any faculty; Estate of Dr. James F. Grant—Bequest to complete payment of subscription to Centennial Endowment Fund, $275; Mrs. Arthur Willey—Donations of a prize to be awarded annually to a piano student of the Conservatorium of Music who obtains the highest standing in the semi-final examination, $25; J. S. McFadden, K.C.—Additional donation to the Endowment of the I.M.E. Prize Fund for Commercial Law, $250; Donations to School of Social Work—Dr. Richard Kerry, $25; Mrs. R. Wilson Reford, $25; Molson's Brewery Limited, $100; Judge J. S. Nicholson, $25; Shipping Containers Limited, $25; In-

A Worthy Appeal

The International Student Service, one of the organizations constituting World Student Relief, has been extremely active in the field of university reconstruction and has contributed much toward the improvement of student welfare in war-ravaged countries.

A short while ago, the Canadian Committee of the Service announced plans for a nationwide relief drive at all Canadian universities, each of which had agreed upon some specific quota. In the case of McGill, $5,000 was decided upon as the minimum figure for the local students' contribution. This drive is scheduled to get under way on February 23.

A new announcement from the Canadian Committee indicates that the scope of the forthcoming university drive will be extended to include the "Canadian Appeal for Children," which drive is intended to provide funds for educational and material relief to school children and university students in Europe.

The latter relief drive, which has been set for February 9, has been authorized by the Canadian government, and is to be conducted jointly by the United Nations Appeal for Children and the Canadian Council for Reconstruction through UNESCO.

Of all the organizations which have been solicited to aid in the latter national drive, the International Student Service, which is itself a member organization of the Canadian Council for Reconstruction, had been given the task of canvassing the universities of Canada. In fact, officials of the Council are recognizing the ISS as the official canvasser of Canadian universities.

For this reason, the forthcoming campaign at McGill will be known officially as the "ISS Campaign in Co-operation with the Canadian Appeal for Children." This should be borne in mind by students when they are approached for contributions; the object of the drive is of double importance, and the total objective of $5,000 must be exceeded if at all possible.

Leading organizations on Canadian campuses have already pledged their support; Student Councils, the Student Christian Movement and the Newman Clubs, at recent conferences, are among those who have offered full and active support. The National Federation of Canadian University Students, at their conference held recently, passed upon a resolution which states, in part, that the NFCUS give their "fullest support to its educational and relief program."

In the near future, students will be given the opportunity to read about the drive, the conditions which their European fellow students face. They will also be provided with an account of where and how contributed funds are distributed. The Daily will carry stories and reports of all aspects of the International Student Service and its relief drive.

This year, above all, McGill is faced with a challenge: that of overcoming the pitiful experience of last year's drive. At that time, McGill, the second largest university in Canada, contributed the second lowest amount of all the Universities.

Surely McGill can do better than this. We owe it to ourselves and to our fellow students in foreign countries—less fortunate and comfortable than we.—A.T.

Loyonnet Address to Music Students

The following is an extract from the address prepared by the eminent French pianist Paul Loyonnet for delivery to the students of the McGill Conservatorium of Music. The address was given on the occasion of Mr. Loyonnet's visit to the Conservatorium yesterday afternoon to present a brief recital of French music. Mr. Loyonnet was welcomed to the Conservatorium by Dean Douglas Clarke.

"I am extremely moved by the honour which the McGill Conservatorium has tendered me in greeting me so cordially. I wish to thank you for welcoming me in such a warm way and I assure you that your kind words went straight to my heart... I did not learn the English language during my youth... It is indeed of recent acquisition and... my accent borders the realm of fantasy.

"Music, fortunately, is far beyond words. It is a medium for direct contact... Unfortunately, there are esthetical theories concerning music and the division reappears precisely because of those theories. I verily believe that the worst injury which one can do to music is to use it as an instrument for nationalist struggles. Within the immense instinctive and cultural complex which has formed European music each people has given and each people has received.

"It is vain to want to confine art within the limits of political frontier or to try to enslave it to a so-called national spirit or some nationalistic culture.

"Powerful ideological tides have been created and have in turn, passed on, are passing on or, are second within the borders of numerous nations.

"Music is the language of love, not only in the sense of the word passion, but in its magnificent divine sense—compared to which the other meaning can have only some personal significance. The mission of musicians is thus well defined. They must establish the communion of souls and those who, like myself, roam throughout the world, must become the forerunners of universal understanding. They must, without respite, recall to all that all good men are brothers.

"This was one of Beethoven's supreme chants, which, in bitter irony, his own countrymen have forgotten, and this does not prevent the spreading of the truth by the musicians' message of love.

"Let us not give up hope, and, untrillingly let us spread our message of beauty and of love...

"Your reception, gentlemen, is a gesture of friendship.

"I shall endeavour to continue to deserve the honour which you have done me."

MRT OPENING:

O'NEIL'S 'AH, WILDERNESS'

Ah, Wilderness, Eugene O'Neill's nostalgic comedy which opened at the MRT last night, was given a thoughtful and often brilliant performance. The credit goes partly to Herbert Whittaker's skill and good taste, partly to the solid characterizations achieved by his group of actors.

The times I have seen the play in the past it has foundered on the shoals of sentimentality; that pitfall was avoided last night. There was high and low comedy, moments of dramatic tension, and some pathos but not quite enough. Every main character has a moment in the play when the "inner self" that so concerned O'Neill was suggested or revealed. Some revealed it and some didn't.

There were many fine individual performances. Gerald Rowan as Nat Miller, a publisher and head of the Miller household, played a gratifying role with thoughtful restraint and unflinching understanding. Eric Donkin, while a bit out of place in New England, was good as the play's confused young hero. Some of the most difficult acting fell his lot, particularly in the long soliloquy in the third act and he carried it off with honours. The scene in which Richard's father tells him the facts of life was played for comedy to good effect.

Douglass Burns Clarke made Uncle Sid a gem of a comic character. Unfortunately this made it hard for the audience to realize when he was serious. Suzanne Avon's tart was tough but oh! so gentle. A good performance. Charlotte Wellock made a very pretty Muriel, performed well, and gave the part a rather startling touch of brogue. Fine characterizations were given by Michael Kane as the older brother, J. Clement Boyd as a hard-hearted old New Englander, Thomas Walker as a bartender fresh from a potato famine, and Fred Devlin as Wint Selby, a lecherous young collegian.

Lillian Niderost as Essie Miller seemed a bit out of place in the household. Essie is a woman of constantly changing views, but these changes were not clean cut. While restraint is usually commendable, I felt that Reta Wheatley kept Aunt Lily too much in the background. Her terror at Richard's cynical fatalism could have been brought out more in the scene in the first act.

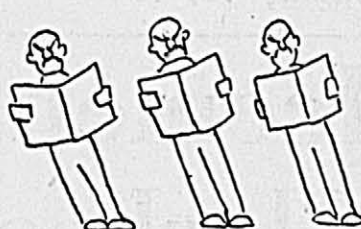

Minor parts were well handled by Malcolm Smith, Joan Huestis, Barbara Henshaw and young David Luck.

Hans Berends had a problem in the adaptation of MRT's tiny stage to the demands of the play. It was managed with only partial success by dividing the stage with an archway. The gloomy, close effect of homes of that period was achieved, and the lighting was excellent.

ALAN PORTGAL.

NOTICE

Student Tickets for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra will be on sale in the Athletics Office on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Each person will have to come for his or her own ticket upon presentation of Students' Athletic Coupon Book.

Robeson Recital

By Charles Shayne

There wasn't a disappointed person in His Majesty's Theatre last night when Paul Robeson strode from the stage at the completion of his program. His recital ranged from an Old English Ballad to numbers about religion, inequality and social injustice. Not restricting himself solely to singing, Mr. Robeson gave an extremely fine reading of the last speech of Othello, bringing to mind his memorable performance in that role here several years ago, and concluded his program with a stirring recitation of The Freedom Train.

Although he was adequate in his opening numbers such as Dans le Printemps de Mes Annees by Garat and excerpts from Moussorgsky's Boris Goudonov, he excelled in the Chassidic Chant and reached his peak in the moving Old Man River and The House I Live In. After hearing the latter sung in makes one wonder why they let Sinatras within vocal range of such pieces. Mr. Brown, the accompanist, joined Mr. Robeson vocally on three occasions. Their version of Ezekiel Saw The Wheel was especially pleasing.

It seems that each concert performer has several numbers which are his own private property. Mr. Robeson has prior lien on Joe Hill, a union song, which he dedicated to "Mike" Buhay, and Swing Low Sweet Chariot. The Purest Kind Of A Guy was dedicated to Fred Rose. Azube Tzerko filled the role of assistant pianist. His performances on the whole lacked lustre. The Chopin Waltz was not as graceful as it might have been and the Revolutionary Etude was somewhat unbalanced and spiritless. He fared much better in the Brahms Intermezzo in A Minor and the Two Preludes, by Gershwin. On the whole he helped round out an excellent evening.

McGill Wrestling Team Meets Springfield Tomorrow

Contests In Gym; Visitors Undefeated As Yet This Year

The ferocious fellows who will be wrestling up at the Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium tomorrow are in no way related either through kinship or by profession, to those vaudevillians who are the apple in the eye of the Montreal public, and do their performing ever so frequently before the lusty crowds at the corner of Atwater and St. Kay. It is hoped by those who hold the grappling art close to their hearts that no confusion will arise in the public mind. The mat card between McGill and Springfield will be run according to officially recognized miles, and respected by all members of the Brawl Fraternity.

In accordance with the line of thought expressed in the previous paragraph, there will be no admission fee charged. This indeed is, on second thought, a rather remarkable fact. It is not assigned, as it might seem to, let us say, materialistically inclined individuals, to be an effort in the direction of keeping the audience to a minimum; but on the contrary to be an incentive to the enlightened to deposit their carfare and make themselves plentiful. A radical departure from all modern taboos and designed as a radical social experiment, motivated by strong reform principles, all will no doubt concede.

FOOD FOR FUN

To get down to copper pins, what is wanted is the attainment of a thoroughly enjoyable time this Saturday eve by as many McGill students as can fit their bodies into the gym. The programme promises to be nothing short of being crammed with titillating excitement. Leading the McGill team against the Springfield College aggregation in the wrestling festivities which begin at 8 o'clock will be Wally Kowal, Intercollegiate Heavyweight Wrestling Champion who also did some stellar performing for Big Red Grid Machine in the fall.

The McGill wrestlers will be all out to make those verbal musicians who have been tooting the Springfield team's horn as being one, if not the top group of grapplers in North American college mat circles blow the sharps and flats of a new tune. The Redmen who will attempt the writing of this new symphony are as follows:

125 lbs. Don Hillman; 135 lbs. Eddy Theriault; 145 lbs. Henry Ferrero; 155 lbs. Tex Dawson; 165 lbs. Stan Fleishman; 175 lbs. Eddy Walter; 190 lbs. Joe Ovellet; Heavy Walter Kowal.

Ed. Note: The perpetrator of the above masterpiece of lunacy was carried away just after deadline in a straightjacket. The author kept up a continuous idiotic babbling about "a new style of sports writing" throughout the composition, and we of the staff suggest only graduate students in the field of obscure philosophical research read beyond the head.

Riflemen Face MIT at Boston In Return Meet

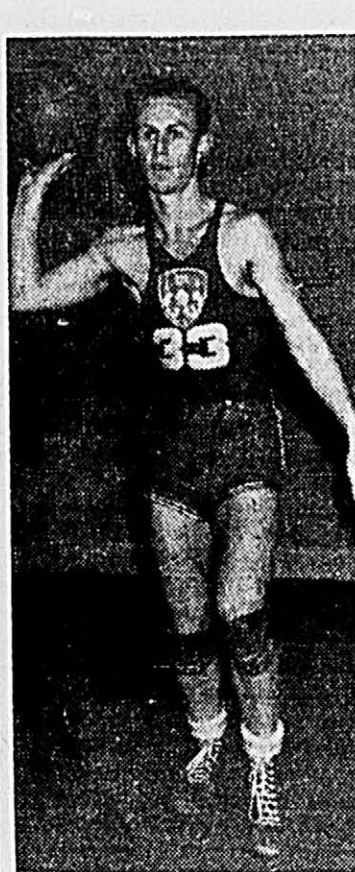

The McGill Rifle Club will shoot its first match of the year in Boston tomorrow against M.I.T. McGill was host to M.I.T. last March when the Bostonians walked away with the laurels. This year's team making the trip south will include: Bob Butler, John Blacklock, Bud Fisk, Edson Warner, Bob Cross, and Al Perry, manager.

Last Year's Champs
Last year the club in its first year of competitive shooting won the inter-university championship which was sponsored by Dominion Marksmen, and the Morris Division of the Montreal Sporting Rifle winter competitions. This year three postal matches will be shot to determine the intercollegiate championship among seven Canadian universities.

Range Hours
The range in the Currie Gym is open on Tuesdays and Thursdays, from 5 until 9. Both the men and women's clubs are under the Athletics Dept. and athletic awards of first and second class are awarded. Any additional information of the club's activities can be obtained from Audrey Sephton or Al Perry.

Inter Puck Squad Meets Ottawa In Forum Nitecap Saturday Eve

McGill hockey fans will view the first double feature in the history of the school when the senior and intermediate teams go into action against Queen's first and second squads tonight at the Forum. The opener gets underway at 8.15 and the afterpiece at 10.

CURRIE IN NETS

The Inters who boast an even-steven record thus far in the young season, meet Ottawa College. The locals will be bolstered by the presence of one Dick Currie in their nets. Currie is a fine twine-tender and his only mistake was to attend the same University as Jack Gelineau, McGill's Mr. Zero. Herb Kert, the regular intermediate goaler will be rested tonight.

Currie will have as his defence of the cage, three stalwarts in Tom Bridel, Jo-Jo Smythe and Johnny Vincelli. Jack Hennessy, formerly of the "seconds" has been promoted to the senior squad and will display his wares for Dave Campbell "ce soir."

UP FRONT

On the forward line Coach Ross Hutchins has red-headed Don Bussiere at the pivot spot on the number one trio with Charlie Lafontaine (former Nationale star) and George Peacock on the wings. Al "Lucky" Kemp, who bagged three counters in the opener at Ottawa, will be flanked by "Rocky" Robillard (who needs no introduction) and Joe O'Brien on the second line.

Others who will be available for forward duty are Malone, Carreau and Rubens. Bob McBoyle another member of Vic Obeck's football squad may see action on the forward line, as he has been out with the team lately.

Hutchins' charges opened the season with a 7-4 triumph over Carleton College at Ottawa and last week-end took one on the chin, losing 6-0 to Ottawa St. Pats. However, the team was short a few defencemen for that game. Nevertheless, they put on a pleasing display and were given a great ovation by the partisan crowd.

The Inters will see more action on Saturday night at Loyola when they clash with Ottawa University. Don Bussiere, the sparkplug of the team, formerly attended Loyola and will be out to put on a show for the old school. Should Bussiere have one of his better evenings the boys will be very tough to beat.

Intermediate Cage Teams Engage Bishop's and NDG

Both McGill Intermediate teams will see action this week-end, as the powerful Intermediate A team plays NDG Y tonight, while the Intermediate Intercollegiate entry meets Bishops in Lennoxville, tomorrow.

"A" GAME
The "A" game will start at 7:30 at NDG YMCA on Hampton Avenue. The Redmen are, as yet, undefeated in League play, having gone five straight games with all entries on the right side of the ledger. This squad was the original McGill entry in the Senior MBL before their Intercollegiate brethren took their place. They are now tied for top spot with the Montreals with a 5-0 average.

NDG Y is, at present in fourth place in the league standings.

CLOSE CALL
The Redmen had their closest

call of all last Tuesday when they defeated South-Western Y 45-40 in overtime. The squad is confident of keeping their slate clean, but anything can happen in basketball.

INTERCOLLEGIATE
At Lennoxville, the Intercollegiate Intermediates tackle the Bishops team. This team has not been as fortunate as their Intermediate A cousins, having won only two games out of four starts.

Since their early wins over Loyola, and Mac, they have been defeated by Mac and the Georgians 48-42, and 71-43. The ice must be broken this week-end. Stalwarts Hayward and Davis have been going great guns offensively, and should help to pull the squad out of the depths of despond, while Novak's stellar defensive work will do much in keeping the wrong score down.

B & B
Instruction for beginners in badminton and basketball has been arranged; also a class in apparatus. If enough girls are interested to form classes in figure skating and skiing, arrangements will be made for instruction.

Consult the bulletin board in R.V.C. or call the Physical Education Office, local 442, for further particulars. Class schedule will appear in tomorrow's Daily.

RVC Sports Classes will resume January 19.

SWIMMING
Monday 5.00-6.00—Swimmers
Tuesday 3.00-4.00—Life Saving
Wednesday 11.00-12.00—Beginners swimming.

BADMINTON

THE "MAJOR" IS FETED

Athletics Council Holds Dinner for Forbes; Trophy to be Awarded in Honor of Major

Major D. Stuart Forbes, recently retired Athletics Manager of McGill University, was the guest of honor at a dinner given by the Students Athletic Council at the Faculty Club last night. Attended by many members of former Councils, the body which the "Major" helped found on the Red and White campus, the congenial gathering was held enthralled by the gaily anecdotes of sprightly Stuart in the after dinner orating.

GIFT TO FORBES
Gerry Cooper, present chairman of the SAC, presented the former Athletics Manager with a very snappy piece of luggage on behalf of the members of the Council. This gift was very appropriate as Major Forbes will soon be leaving Montreal for sunnier climes. But, as the veteran of two World Wars declared when he accepted the present, "The wife will probably take possession of it in the morning."

Not to be outdone, Ed Ballon, representing the Students Society, presented the Major with a beautifully inscribed silver stein, which

MAJOR FORBES

Forbes implied would suit his new, not-so-active capacity.

In conjunction with the dinner, the Council announced that a permanent trophy, known as the Major D. Forbes trophy, would be awarded annually to the outstanding athlete on the McGill campus. The winner will be chosen by the Council each spring, and the announcement made at the Awards dinner.

IMPORTANT AWARD
This year the above banquet will probably be around the end of next month, so the initial possessor of the trophy will be determined prior to that time. This award definitely will be the most important single athletic honour at McGill, and competition for it will definitely be keen. The Council will have its hands full judging the various entries, as things stand now, each Athletic club will submit any names it deems are suitable aspirants for the award.

Intramural Volleyball Resumes on Monday

The intramural volleyball league will resume play on Monday with over 50 games yet to be played in the schedule. Playoffs are scheduled to begin early in March.

If the teams find that the days on which they played before Christmas now conflict with their new timetables, the managers are to contact Bob Wilkinson (MA. 9181-Local 257) immediately. Otherwise all games will be played on the same days as before the holidays. Next week's games (starting at 1.00 p.m.):

Monday—Phys.-Ed. I vs. Law I; Comm. Weasels vs. Sci; Engineers vs. Dents.

Tuesday—Phys.-Ed. IV. vs. Med I; Comm. Bulls vs. Arts.

Wednesday—Med. II vs. Comm. Bears; Arch. vs. Phys.-Ed. II.

Today: 5.15: Music vs. Eng. II; Med. II vs. Eng. III. — 6.15: Eng. IV vs. Comm. IV; Arts & Sci. IV vs. Eng. II (powder puffs).

BASKETBALL: All teams are asked to report to the Gym on Thursday at 5.00 p.m.

McGill vs. Clarkson, Friday, Jan. 16, at 8.00 p.m.

VOLLEYBALL: Central 'Y' Giants vs. McGill, 12.30 p.m.

INTRAMURAL HOCKEY: Friday, Jan. 16, at 5.10 p.m. Meds. vs. Dents; 6.10 p.m. Phys.-Eds. vs. Law.

Note: All postponed games due to inclement weather will be played the following night on the free rink.

SKIING

Snow is covering the hills now (there's only the odd vegetable garden to plow through now) and the Zone races are being run off. This week-end Class C is being run off at Ste. Agathe and Class B at Sunset Mountain. Let's see all you gals in there and flying down those hills.

This year the MWSAA's big event of the season will be a Games Night. In the past years there has always been a Tobogganing party, but this year it has been decided to hold a night in RVC instead. More about it all later.

Classes in sports activities for R.V.C. students are starting Monday, January 19th. Newcomers, as well as former members of the classes, are welcome. Do start when the class starts next week.

QUEENS TEAM

The Queens gang boast a squad that should prove no pushover for the Red and White. Norm Urie, an Ottawa boy, tends the net-minding chores for the Tricolor. Without him, the score might well have been multiplied in favour of Toronto, as he was under a practically steady barrage of rubber. Others who will bear watching tonight are Jake Wallis, Larry Moffat, 'Moon' Flannigan, Ron Kemp and Tom Barrett, the starting lineup for Coach Gene Chouinard.

McGill could use a win in tonight's game as well as in next week's clash at Kingston. Toronto is now perched in first spot in the standings and the Red and White squad would be helped greatly by a win at home, coupled with a University of Montreal victory in their week-end game with the Blues.

Behind the Snow

By OLE G. CLAUSEN

It's getting unpleasant. Snow keeps pouring down from a dark sky, silently, incessantly, mercilessly. Ice winds are whining round the corners. And this is only the beginning.

Certainly it is time for escapism. These nights I find a special delight in contrasting the white monotony outside with the gay colors surrounding the warm, blue waters of the Mediterranean. Memories of a summer spent in happy idleness on the shores of the Eternal Sea keep turning up. They may be a bit confused and incoherent, perhaps also too personal. But I invite you to share in them anyhow. The ticket is free.

I went to the Mediterranean with the serious and highly moral purpose of studying politics. In the more prosaic atmosphere of Western and Central Europe I had been doing alright, hustling from place to place in airplanes, interviewing people, gathering information about labor conditions and austerity measures. It was all very discouraging. Then I came to Portugal.

Portugal is a country of great national devotion for the endowment of the Kenneth M. Burke Memorial Scholarships, $500; Miss Olive Hosmer—Donation for Medical Research to be disbursed at the discretion of the Dean, $5,000.

The Chemical Institute of Canada—Donation to maintain prizes in Chemistry and Chemical Engineering, $50; Corporation of Professional Engineers of Quebec—Donation to maintain a bursary in Engineering, $200; C. D. Rutherford—Donation to maintain the J. M. Rutherford Memorial Prize, $800; Pembina Mountain Clays Ltd.—First instalment of donation of $250 for research in the Department of Chemistry under the direction of Dr. R. V. V. Nicholls; $125; Rene B. Perrault—Further donation to the Extension Course Prize Fund, $25; Mrs. Roy M. Wolvin—Further donation to the Roy M. Wolvin Memorial Scholarship Fund, $3,500.

Lazarus Phillips, K.C., Donation to the McGill War Memorial Fund, $1,000; Dept. of Obstetrics and Gynaecology for research by Drs. Philpott and Lowenstein, $1,000; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Carter, donation for bursary to student in Dentistry, $50.

sandlot shooting has contributed to the McGillians inability to hit the win column. Unless the locals pull their socks up and buckle down to business, Western will probably repeat last year's 64 point trouncing when they initiate the CIAU schedule here in Montreal in two weeks.

Leading the locals into the fray against Clarkson tonight will be Bob Duford, diminutive dynamo, who was the only Redman to register favorably against YMHA Wednesday eve. George Davidson, high-scoring forward, who was hot as a firecracker less than a month ago, came back from the three-week vacation away off form. Bud Fraser and Sam Roth are still too tight around the basket, and as a consequence are missing easy lay-ups galore.

Myer Bloom has not been producing since early in the season, while Charlie Goldblum has just returned after two months on the shelf and has yet to round into shape. Cliff Atkins has shown flashes of good play, and should prove valuable to Ryan once he can go more than five minutes at a stretch.

Other spares have not been getting much of an opportunity to show their wares, and if Ryan has been playing his top quintet, they had better to improve plenty if they want to go anywhere in CIAU competition this season.

Well, everybody seems to know that that country is ruled by bloody Fascists.

The Communists tell us that the people are suppressed, unhappy, and longing for liberty. They are not. I don't think the ordinary man-in-the-street in Lisbon has the slightest idea of what democracy, Fascism, and Communism are. He is extremely poor, in most cases illiterate — and yet is the happiest and most friendly man on earth. This discovery was amazing. Still more amazing was it to find how plentiful everything was. Only in Belgium had I seen anything like it. The exchange-rate was convenient. I got a lot of escudos for my pounds and Danish kroner. And prices were low. In short, Portugal was like Paradise — even with a semi-Fascist at its head. Terribly confusing after all that gossip...

It seemed as if the Portuguese expected visitors to get confused. A few miles from Lisbon they have a place called Estoril. Here you can sit amidst exiled royalty from the rest of Europe and drown your confusion in full-bodied Sandeman port and sparkling champagne. Ivory-skinned women fill the Casino at night. During the day they are kept inside the big, white houses with Madonnas painted on the walls, protected from the rays of the sun and the glances of men. Even at the Casino (or especially at the Casino) the girls only appear under constant chaperonage. Well, it's necessary so. But those fat ladies accompanying the young innocents do not shun a glass of port at the bar, and the ball-room has wide doors opening into a big garden filled with concealing palms.

Gone were all serious purposes. With my back to Europe's miseries I did quite a good job of drowning my confusion. At the old royal palace at Sintra, on the beach between Cascaes and Estoril, during gesticulating talks with smiling and swindling street-merchants I realized that the world politics ought to be banished from Portugal. It must be a nice job to be dictator in that country... and rule over all those long, inviting eyelashes. I understand you Mr. Salazar.

Yet Portugal was only the beginning. The whole blue Mediterranean was still to come. And this part of the journey I was to do by sea. It would have been nothing short of indecent to fly over these waters and just see them as a piece of blue paper.

Past the giant, brown rock of Gibraltar, into the deep-blue, velvety Mediterranean. Lazy days, burning sun. Next stop Malta. Here, too, life was astonishingly normal. There were ruins of course. Even Italian bombs can make some damage. "Sometimes they even exploded," a Maltese told me. But relatively few people were killed, mainly thanks to the deep caves in the rock which served as shelters.

In a way Malta was the most pleasant place I visited. It was by far the strangest. Here you have a couple of rocks senselessly rising from an orgy of unbroken blue—as if by mistake dropped from the great hand that created the continents of this earth. Malta is very densely populated—more than two thousand per square mile—and

Radio Society Restricted by Union Move

(By Canadian University Press)

One of the UBC Radio Society's major productions, "Music From Varsity," has been cut off from the use of evening time on Vancouver stations, by a ruling of the Vancouver Musicians' Union (A.F.L.).

Union officials demand that all there is little fertile soil. What do all those people live by then?

Well, three possibilities are open: You can earn your living as a beggar; you can join a brothel; and, if you are less respectable, you can become a priest. You can also open a bar, but this is not so lucrative by now as the market is jammed with it. I was told, 8,000 speakies of all kinds. The Maltese seem to be getting along very well anyhow.

They are the most beautiful people I have ever seen. In the picturesque staircases of Valetta you stumble over them and must be careful not to disturb their siesta. When you are being paddled about the harbor in a comfortable gondola, the sight of your topee will prompt scores of long-haired, laughing girls to emerge from the water.

I couldn't resist the temptation to return to Malta a couple of months later. This time I left by plane and, seeing the foam-edged shores disappear below, I promised myself to come back the sooner the better — as if afraid that these heavenly rocks might be carried away by some big wave.

This is getting too long-winded. I had better boil the rest down to a few lines... Egypt was so romantic and as enchanting this summer as it has been for the last three thousand years. I found Alexandria very much like the version given in "Caesar and Cleopatra."

Overlooking the sea from the Cecil Hotel I was rather disappointed not to see Roman galleys appearing from behind the horizon with the great imperator's standard flying from the mastsheads... Cairo was terribly hot and dusty, so after a few days I moved from Shepherd's Hotel in the center of the city, to Mena House, in the desert, a few hundred yards from the Great Pyramid. It was really nice there — drinking and sweating all day long, dancing at the open-air Auberge des Pyramides at night, riding on camels out into the desert in moonlight. In short, Egypt offers you everything. It is the ideal place to go when you get tired of all these lectures and tests. Best connection via TWA.

Palestine was less pleasant. The Jews have spoiled it. They have invaded the country against the will of its inhabitants. This summer they were causing curfews and uneasiness. They are unfriendly, servile, and bloodthirsty at the same time with some exceptions of course. Worst of all, they have built the ugliest city in the world and given it the name Tel Aviv, Hill of Spring. It symbolizes the Zionist failure. Even the girls are awful. Well, I am no anti-Semite. I would rather say that the trouble with the Jews in Palestine is that they are not Jews. They have stolen a country and lost all their fine qualities... radio time after 7 p.m. be left open for use by professional performers. Study requirements of the students will prevent the show being aired before 6 p.m., and no time is available on the stations between 6 and 7 p.m.

The president of the Radio Society is now negotiating with the Union on the possibility of allowing "Music From Varsity" on the air because of its cultural value. The secretary-manager of the union said that he was attempting to help the boys, but that he was unable to release a definite statement as yet.

Around the Campus with Egbert...

Egbert says

"There must be an easier way to make a few bucks."

If you are one of those smart students, like Egbert, fattening allowances with holiday-time earnings, you'll want to continue being in the smart set by holding onto them. Egbert, for one, knows the best way of doing just that is by pigeonholing some of that extra cash in a B of M Savings Account.

SUMMER OPPORTUNITY

One of the finest Jewish Summer hotels in the Laurentians is seeking a young man to act as sports and activities director. He should have most of the following qualifications:—a pleasant personality and appearance; skill in sports—particularly riding, swimming and tennis; some experience in group activities or amateur theatricals; an appreciation of music and ability to play an instrument such as piano, guitar or accordion.

Actual previous experience in this field is not necessary as we are willing to help along the right person. Since the Hotel operates at present during the Summer only, a second year student would be ideal and could have several seasons experience before graduating.

To any young person having the above qualifications, an opportunity may be afforded to spend an interesting, healthful and fairly remunerative Summer. Please reply in writing only and enclose photo if possible. Address letters "Re Sports & Activities Director"—c/c McGill Placement Service.
